

BUDGETS

Tribal budgets primarily are generated from historical department's operational needs. Aside from new approaches or innovation, a primary element missing from a majority of these budgetary discussions is the individual plans involved for each budget has been a detailed program plan. Without proper planning there is no reasonable way to gauge our Tribe's needs, successes, failures, goals, and objectives.

The Tribe needs to require planning as a part of the budgetary process as well as set time frames as well as Long Range Multi-Year Budgeting as part of the process.
